Terms of Deposit

The following terms and conditions govern all use of the UCL Data Archive and the services available on or at the site or its associated web page, Research Data Services. The UCL Data Archive is operated and hosted by the University of Connecticut. By signing these Terms and Conditions before the publication process, you agree that these Terms and Conditions apply to your use of the service from that point forward and to all the data and materials (“the Work”) that you deposit.

You grant the University of Connecticut Libraries the non-exclusive right to reproduce, translate (as described below), and distribute the Work deposited to the UCL Data Archive, including the descriptive information (metadata) and abstract in any format or medium worldwide and royalty-free, including but not limited to, publication over the Internet, except as provided for by an addendum to this agreement or in the metadata associated with the Work.

You agree that the UCL Data Archive may translate the Work to any medium or format for the purposes of security, back-up, and preservation. You agree that the UCL Data Archive may make multiple copies of the Work for the purposes of security, back-up, and preservation.

You understand that you or the UCL Data Archive may request that some data or materials of the Work or the Work be withdrawn from the UCL Data Archive, and, in such an event, the descriptive information (metadata) may be retained and a copy of the data or materials of the Work or the Work may be retained in a ‘dark archive’ where it is no longer publicly accessible.

You appoint the UCL Data Archive as your agent for the purposes of providing access to the digital assets in accordance with the UCL Data Archive Terms of Use and Policies and hereby grants the UCL Data Archive non-exclusive, perpetual right to use the Work for noncommercial use. Such right shall include, but not be limited to, the right to:

- Electronically view and display the Work, including display in classrooms;
- Federate and incorporate the Work into databases containing other digital assets;
- Electronically store, archive, copy, distribute, or convert the Work for preservation purposes and to ensure future accessibility; and
